Draft Day Trades: Beefers trade Neil Walker to Devils for Mike Morse; Platoon trades Matt Wieters to Beefers for #15; Platoon trades #45 to Whatever's for David Freeze.

OAPBA DRAFT RECAP 2013

1. Bryce Harper, CF, Piranhas. The Fish bit into the draft and caught the biggest prize of the day. Harper looks to anchor the team's outpond for the next decade and then some. The teenage slugger was just a young egg a few years ago. Teammate Melky Cabrera plans on bulking up Harper with a special diet. When asked about Cabrera's cooking, he said, "That's a clown question dude."

2. Kris Medlen, P, Devils. The Devils needed to rebuild their bullpen took the versatile Medlen. Medlen, besides his ability to start and relieve, is handy with a hammer and saw. He plans on redoing the bench in the aging Devil pen and putting up a nice awning.

3. Aaron Hill, 2B, Otters. Hill makes his third trip to OAPBA to supply some power to the Otter infield. Dustin Ackley, the incumbent second sacker, has claimed breach of contract. He claims GM Jonathan Stillwell guaranteed him job as long as he was rostered and if he wasn't playing, he would burn down the "O", Otter stadium. Stillwell was rumored to be playing his cello while his empire burned around him.

4. Jake Peavy, SP, Turfbeatars. "Joliet" Jake Peavy returns to the league after being incarcerated for conduct unbecoming of a pitcher. He was last seen getting pounded by OAPBA hitters. Turfbeater pitching coach Steven Korb has been working with Peavy on bulking up to CC Sabathia size hoping the extra size will add extra life to his fastball.

5. Fernando Rodney, RP, Gang. Rodney gives the GasHouse bullpen the nastiest backend. With Craig Kimbrel, the Gang relief staff will have their opponents sitting on their backends after hearing, "strike three". Eight OAPBA teams have requested that league games be shorted to seven innings to prevent the usage of the dominant closers.

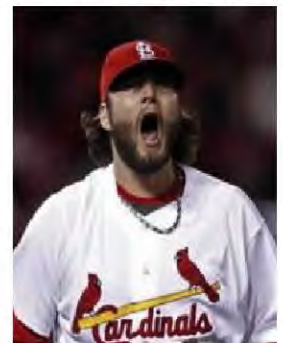

6. AJ Burnett, SP, Beefers. AJ makes a return trip to the Mooville. The right hander has added another tattoo, this time with the Beefer logo. He claims he's over his choking problem which plagued his last OAPBA season and that good and greasy burgers go down the gullet easily.

7. Wade Miley, SP, Whatever. The wilderness pitching staff of the Whats, has gotten a little more under control. Miley brings an ability to find the plate to a staff that is unsure of where the plate is. GM Walt Taylor did add during the draft that he'll have Miley on getting a bit wilder to keep opposing batters on their toes.

8. Lance Lynn, SP, Road Warriors. The Warriors have the best pitching scouts in the league and found another gem. Lynn was also drafted for his rich tenor voice that he proudly displays while on the mound. He's been known to sing "another bites the dust" after each strikeout. He will also join the team's barber shop quartet.

9. Ryan Cook, RP, Beefers. The Beefers were looking for someone to man the team's bar-b-que in the bullpen and they grabbed a chef in training. Cook begged the Beefers also draft Jason Grilli instead the Beefers grabbed noted chicken expert Josh Beckett for a return trip to the team in the later rounds.

OAPBA DRAFT RECAP 2013

10. Jason Vargas, SP, Piranhas. The Piranhas were looking to add some heat to their starting and decided to throw some "gas" into the mix. Vargas, while not the hardest throwing left around, does bring excellent control and consistent innings to the Fish. Fellow lefty Cliff Lee is looking forward to taking Vargas under his fin to teach him the ropes.

11. Scott Atchison, RP, Devils. The Tazzies, looking to add some gas of their own to the bullpen, grabbed hard throwing Atchison. Atchison once was in a college bullpen that also had Tim Lincecum and Sammy Santa Fe. The Atchison, Lincecum, and Santa Fe trio railroaded their opponents down the tracks.

12. Homer Bailey, SP, Otters. Bailey, who's parents wanted a power hitter, decided at a young age it was easier to serve up the long ball than hit it. GM Jonathan Stillwell claims to have perfected a method to keep his young starter from living up to his name. He plans to have the rightie renamed Whiff Bailey by the end of the year.

13. Ryan Dempster, SP, Turfbeatars. Ryan "Elwood" Dempster joins "Joliet" Jake Peavy in the rebuilt Turfie starting staff. The duo plans on bringing the blues to OAPBA opponents. Former OAPBA teammates claim that Dempster is the life of the clubhouse with his harmonica playing and is also known for charity work with a local orphanage.

14. Yoenis Cespedes, LF, Gang. Paraphrasing Casey Stengel, GM Kris Stenger said that without a left fielder, a lot of balls roll all the way to the wall. Hence the drafting of the slugging Cespedes. The Cuban born power hitter is ready to take a spot in the middle of the batting order. The Gang will have a thunderous batting order of Republicans, a lot of right wingers.

15. Kelvin Herrera, RP, Platoon. The 'Toons, rearming their bullpen, took the power arm of young Herrera. The right hander is rumored to be the heir apparent to Mariano Rivera. Rivera, even though released by the Platoon, will at the team's training camp working with the bullpen. Herrera has requested he be given Rivera's old uniform number and jock strap if he's too replace the league's all time saves leader.

16. Jake McGee, RP, Whatever's. The draft frenzy of pitchers continues with the Whats getting things under control. The rifle arm of McGee has pinpoint control, something the Whatever's aren't known for. Like first round Wade Miley, GM Walt Taylor, plans on getting McGee to throw a bit wilder. His strategy is known as the Nuke LaLoosh philosophy of keeping batters from digging in. McGee says he's willing to dust a few opponents.

17. Robbie Ross, RP, Road Warriors. The Roadies went into the draft short lefties for the pen. So GM Marc Bostrom grabbed a short lefty in Robbie Ross. The diminutive hurler will help anchor a bullpen behind one of the strongest starting staffs in the league. Ross, called "Mrs C" in the clubhouse, is known for his housekeeping abilities.

18. Yu Darvish, SP, Platoon. The Platoon drafted the pitcher considered to have the highest upside of any available starter. The baby face right hander may be a bit wild but he has bought into the Whatever philosophy of keeping opposing hitters of balance. Darvish, while not the first Japanese player in the majors, is the first Iranian. His teammates are already calling him the "terrorist".
