The Cincinnati Reds cruised to 102 wins in the replay. The Reds exactly matched their actual wins against six of their eleven opponents. The Reds played 163 games in the replay. In actual play, game 143 was called due to rain and was recorded a 1-1 tie after 5 innings.

The replay games were often closer than those in actual play. There were 24% more one-run games in the replay (61 vs.49) versus actual play and 13% fewer blowouts (39 vs. 45). The replay produced ten additional extra-inning games versus actual play. The additional extra-inning games in the replay resulted in 3.5% more innings pitched for Reds pitchers.

Season at a Glance

The Reds tracked their actual win/loss sequence very closely during the replay. The Reds won four more games in the replay versus actual play, mainly by dominating the San Francisco Giants and San Diego Padres which together accounted for eight additional wins versus actual play.

The Reds team batting average was .236 in the replay versus .260 in actual play. Reds team replay ERA was 3.10 versus 3.41 actual.

The Reds scored 745 runs in the replay versus 776 in actual play. Reds replay home runs were 136, one more than actual play. Reds posted 716 RBI's in the replay versus 714 in actual play. In the replay, the Reds scored in 28% of innings batted, identical to actual play.

Joe Morgan was the only player with over 100 plate appearances that bested his actual average. Morgan broke a three-way tie for the team home run lead in game 162.

Game 1: Atlanta (Morton) at Cincinnati (Billingham)

The Reds jump to an early 3-0 lead aided by back-to-back triples by Joe Morgan and Dan Driessen. The Braves manufacture four runs from five singles and a walk to edge out the Reds in their 1974 debut.

Game 30: San Francisco (D'Acquisto) at Cincinnati (Gullett)

The Reds enter the ninth inning up 2-1 and put closer Clay Carroll on the mound. The Giants rally for three runs in the ninth initiated by a walk by Bobby Bonds and two stolen bases. Joe Morgan homers to lead off the bottom of the ninth. Johnny Bench reaches on error and is eventually sacrificed home by Merv Rettenmund to force extra innings. Both teams score in the 14th inning, with Dave Concepcion homering with one out. Fred Norman holds the Giants in the 15th and Tony Perez knocks in Pete Rose with a single to end the Titanic struggle.

Game 60: Philadelphia (Ruthven) at Cincinnati (C.Carroll)

On the mound for the first time this year as a starter, Reds Clay Carroll holds the Phillies scoreless after seven innings. Philly firstbaseman Willie Montanez homers in Mike Schmidt to tie the game and force eventual extra innings. Philadelphia strikes first in extras to take the lead. Joe Morgan ties the game by reaching on error, forcing pinch runner Eddie Armbrister home. Then with two out, Tony Perez launches one deep to walk off with a 6-3 Reds extra inning victory.

Game 48: Pittsburgh (Kison) at Cincinnati (Norman)

Willie Stargell batted 3 for 4 with three home runs, four runs scored, a stolen base and a walk in this back-and-forth affair that ended in the eleventh inning on a Pirate Bob Robertson single against Reds reliever, Clay Carroll, B(A*)(Z). Stargell's third homer, given up by Rawly Eastwick, tied the game in the ninth inning.

DIFFERENCE	149	95	28	74	112	(14)	172	-0.01

Overall, the Reds were very efficient at the plate, outscoring opponents (+25%), while only outhitting them by 8%.

The Reds hit an extra home run versus 135 long balls in actual play, yet gave up 18 fewer home runs to opponents compared to actual play.

The Pythagorean statistic predicted a slightly lower winning percentage based on the difference in runs scored versus their opponents throughout the season. This highlights the fact that the Reds came through with game-winning production at opportune times.

Game 46: Pittsburgh (Rooker) at Cincinnati (Billingham)

The Reds jumped out to a comfortable 8-0 lead. The Pirates chipped away and entered the ninth inning down 8-7. Rennie Stennett grounded out to begin the ninth inning. Art Howe drew a walk from Reds closer, Clay Carroll. Carroll retired Al Oliver with a fly out. And with two out, Willie Stargell homered off Carroll for a 9-8 Pirate comeback win.

Hitting Streaks

Cesar Geronimo and Joe Morgan most improved their actual play hitting streaks

**A hitting streak is the number of consecutive official games in which a player appears and gets at least one base hit. A streak is not necessarily ended when a player has at least 1 plate appearance and no hits. A streak shall not be terminated if all official plate appearances result in a base on balls, hit by pitch, defensive interference or a sacrifice bunt. The streak shall terminate if the player has a sacrifice fly and no hit.*

Game 64: Atlanta (Morton) at Cincinnati (Billingham)

Carl Morton and Jack Billingham each held their opponents scoreless through nine innings. The Braves broke the ice in the tenth inning to take the lead. Johnny Bench drew a walk in the bottom of the tenth and with two out, Cesar Geronimo walked off with the game winning homer.

Don Gullett was dependable as the Reds most active starter.

Clay Kirby was stellar and consistent throughout the year.

Pedro Borbon's (ZZ) proved invaluable.

Clay Carroll's deference to the longball inflated his ERA.

Righthander "Petey" Borbon appeared in 37% of the replay games versus 45% in actual play. His replay WHIP was 0.784 vs 1.187 actual.

1974 World Series – Oakland Athletics versus Los Angeles Dodgers

The Oakland Athletics battled the Los Angeles Dodgers and won the World Series in six games, 4-2. In actual play, the A's beat the Dodgers in five games, 4-1.

Oakland won the first two games on the road. Los Angeles struck back by winning their first two games on the road to tie the series 2-2.

In game five, Oakland came back from a 7-3 deficit to take the lead in the series 3-2.

Oakland ace Catfish Hunter (25-12) pitched eight scoreless innings to cement the championship for the A's in game six.

Oakland centerfielder Bill North was the MVP, batting .440 with a double, two triples, a home run, six RBI's and three stolen bases.

Bill Buckner and Jim Wynn led the charge for the Dodgers.

1974 All-Star Game – Three Rivers Stadium, Pittsburgh, PA – 7/23/74

The Nationals came out swinging in the first inning aided by back-to-back doubles by Steve Garvey and Ron Cey. The Americans battled back in the seventh inning courtesy of a three-run shot by Carl Yastrzemski. Chief-closer Mike Marshall shut out the Americans in the last two innings to book the save.

Replay Notes

All games were played with cards and dice. Score was kept on paper and statistics were compiled via Excel.

Starting lineups were derived from Baseball-reference.com.

Plate appearances for hitters and innings pitched for pitchers were monitored throughout the season to best reflect reality.

Player cards were created for non-carded players via Steve's APBA Card Computer at <https://www.compuducksports.com/cardcomp/>
